Overton, Mr. and Mrs. I. Bonillas and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herrera and children, Miss Freda Herrera, Miss Carolina Frey, Mr. J. D. Milton.

George Webb, the oldest son of Mr. Sam F. Webb, who was killed by a mining accident in Sonora yesterday, was well known in Phoenix, where he resided for many years. The young man was possessed of many sterling qualities, and his untimely death will be a terrible blow to his parents. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Webb in Maricopa county extend their sympathy to the sorrowing parents in their great misfortune.—Gazette.

Joe Carbon has sold his interest in the livery stable to M. Breen and will leave soon for a four month's trip to the Arkansas hot springs on account of ill health. Mr. Carbon has been in Nogales for thirteen years and has been away only once during that period. He will re-enter business of some kind when he returns. We hope the springs will do Joe good and he will return in good health for he is a good citizen.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents. Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The Nogales Methodist Seminary closed a most successful term of ten month's school last Wednesday in the usual interesting way: recitations by the members of the school, a treat from the teacher and the awarding of prizes for deportment and scholarship. Master Harry Wulping received the gold medal, Aurora Escobosa received the silver medal, and Mary Gardner and Juan Raphael received second prizes. The school will reopen in September. Rev. S. V. Dilley and his wife have taken great interest in this school and the pupils have advanced very rapidly under their tutelage.

Last Sunday afternoon Rosalia Cota was stabbed in the back in front of the Montezuma hotel by Marcelino Martinez. The men had a quarrel about money matters. They were walking down the track and no one heard them say a word, but when in front of the Montezuma Martinez drew a long butcher knife and began slashing Cota. Cota tried to ward off the blows but had his hand badly cut in the attempt. He fell into the wire fence at the park and was picked up by guests at the hotel, and Martinez made his escape into Sonora, though he would not have done so had Joe Carbon been able to procure a gun in time. Joe witnessed the cutting but was unarmed.

RAILROAD NEWS.

What is Going on Along the Line.

Engineer Threadway is now on the pile driver down in Sonora.

Trainmaster E. J. Gibson returned from Guaymas Thursday night.

General Manager J. A. Naugle was in Nogales in his private car Thursday.

Andy Linder writes from Yuma that he will take a run down to San Diego for a short stay.

Fred Maish, a passenger fireman from El Paso, is in the city on a lay-off and expects to spend the 4th of July in Tucson.—Citizen.

E. D. Shank who was a delegate to the Firemen's convention at Toronto from the lodge at this place, returned home this morning, much pleased with his trip.—Tucson Citizen.

Jim Glenn, who has been breaking for Conductor Woodrum between Benson and Nogales has been transferred to the passenger on the Sonora and H. B. Shirk takes his place on the north end.

P. J. Zeimet, E. J. Gibson and Geo. Montague have received invitations from the general office boys at Guaymas of the Sonora road to spend the Fourth in Guaymas and take a fishing trip on the yacht Dan. This will be a delightful trip as the Dan is one of the swiftest yachts on the coast.

Juan Molina, section foreman on the Sonora railroad at Nogales, Sonora, let a thousand pound guard rail fall on his arm Wednesday morning, causing muscular rupture of the arm. Doctor Chenoweth says it is a miracle that the arm was not severed from the man's body. Unless blood poisoning sets in he will recover.

The first S. P. engine to run into Nogales since the change of ownership of the N. M. & A. and Sonora, was No. 1650, that pulled the passenger in Monday night, under charge of Engineer John Schoonmaker and fired by H. S. Foreman. The engine is a beauty and attracted considerable attention from our citizens.

Master Mechanic L. S. Pratt of Tucson was badly scalded last week while out on a trip of inspection. He was examining an engine and while stooping underneath the overflow pipe from the injector, the fireman started the injector and threw hot water over one arm and shoulder. The fireman did not know he was there.

Lieutenant E. A. Shuttleworth of Fort Whipple, Lieutenant McMaster of Fort Douglass, Utah, with five men came over from Fort Huachuca yesterday on a connoitering tour and will return home today.

TOMBSTONE TRAGEDY.

W. C. Green Shoots and Kills James Burnett.

W. C. Green's little 12-year-old daughter Ella and her playmate, Katie Corcoran were drowned in the San Pedro below Mr. Green's dam. Some one blew up the dam with dynamite and the rush of the water caught the little girls unawares and drowned them both. Mr. Green accused James Burnett of causing the dam to be blown up and in a discussion about the affair in Tombstone July 1, Mr. Green shot and killed Burnett. Mr. Green made a statement to the Prospector after the shooting which we give herewith:

"I have no statement to make other than that man was the cause of my child being drowned. I ascertained beyond a shadow of a doubt that he was the guilty man and when I thought of my little girl as she put her arms around my neck on the day she was drowned, I could think of nothing but vengeance on the man who caused her death. I have lived in this territory twenty-five years and have always been a peaceable, law-abiding man. I held no animosity and have no regret for anything except the death of my little girl, and the little Corcoran girl and the grief of my poor wife." He added, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord."

Attorney William Harlow left last night to defend Mr. Green.
